SEPTEMBER 10-13, 2020

42ND ANNUAL

VIRTUAL EDITION
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Thursday, Sept. 10</th>
<th>Friday, Sept. 11</th>
<th>Saturday, Sept. 12</th>
<th>Sunday, Sept. 13</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9–10:15 am</td>
<td>Roxana Robinson plenary</td>
<td>Erin Hosier reading</td>
<td>Roxana Robinson craft talk</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:15–11 am</td>
<td>coffeehouse</td>
<td>coffeehouse</td>
<td>coffeehouse</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:30 am–12:30 pm</td>
<td>Jami Attenberg workshop part I</td>
<td>Jami Attenberg workshop part 2</td>
<td>Bridgett M. Davis workshop part 1</td>
<td>Bridgett M. Davis workshop part 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12:30–1 pm: break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1–3 pm: small-group workshops</td>
<td>Amy Hempel workshop part I</td>
<td>Amy Hempel workshop part 2</td>
<td>Evie Shockley workshop part 1</td>
<td>Evie Shockley workshop part 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3–3:30 pm: break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5:15-6:30 pm: happy hour readings</td>
<td>Jami Attenberg reading, paired with Gabehart Prize winner in fiction, Marci Cornett</td>
<td>Amy Hempel reading, paired with Gabehart Prize winner in poetry, Amanda Hawkins</td>
<td>Bridgett M. Davis reading, paired with Gabehart Prize winner in nonfiction, Lisa Kent</td>
<td>Darcey Steinke reading</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6:30–7 pm: break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
<td>break</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7–8:30 pm: free events</td>
<td>Evie Shockley keynote, introduced by Jen Bartlett, UK Libraries</td>
<td>Sonia Sanchez Series, introduced by Patrice Muhammad</td>
<td>Wild Women of Poetry Showcase with Mahogany Browne &amp; Ellen Hagan</td>
<td>Stars of the Commonwealth: Carrie Green, Mariana Lockington, and Claudia Love Mair, moderated by Julie Wrinn</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
1. Jami Attenberg (fiction). Grand Entrances: Sometimes all it takes is a great first sentence to convince a reader to spend the next three hundred pages with your book. We’ll look at texts that have compelling beginnings, ones which instantly hook the reader with their irresistible plots, addictive voices, and instantly fascinating characters. Additionally, a talk on stakes building will be given. In critiques we’ll examine the first 10–20 pages of students’ work, focusing on grabbing the attention of the reader, agent, or editor—and keeping them interested.

2. Bridgett M. Davis (nonfiction). Memory As an Act of Imagination: How do we craft the truth and ensure that it reads like compelling fiction, without resorting to making up things? How do we heighten reality? And how do we ensure that our true stories have resonance beyond our own lives? By using our memories to fuel our imaginations. Memoir relies on memory, but as Toni Morrison described it, the act of imagination is bound up with “emotional memory—what the nerves and skin remember, as well as how it appeared.” In this workshop, we’ll free ourselves to conjure emotional memory, and through a series of exercises, imbue it with both drama and meaning. Please bring a paragraph describing a vivid memory and come ready for an act of imagination!

3. Amy Hempel (fiction). Why Are You Telling Me This? Asking the right questions is one way to begin and proceed in a story. We will look at questions asked in two novels, a book of war correspondence, and a collection of poems. After reading the above, you will be asked to write 10–20 questions that reflect your deep concerns and might lead to a story.

4. Evie Shockley (poetry). Poetry of Curiosity. Poems can do many things—comfort, announce, describe, catalogue, just for starters—but one of their most wonderful functions, in my view, is to question. Many magics can be wrought, for both poets and audiences, from poetry that begins with the desire to know something. This workshop is for those interested in writing that participates in the quest for knowledge. We will take our cues from poets who search and re-search in their creative process; our goal will be to generate new poems that lead us out of ourselves and confront us with all we do not know about the world.

5. Darcey Steinke (nonfiction). Writing the Body: In this workshop we will focus on our body as a nexus to write from. Examples from memoirs and essays that use the body will be read. Some examples may be Maggie Nelson, Vivian Gornick, Elizabeth Gilbert and Douglas A. Martin. We will do exercises in class that deal with the knowledge that comes from the physical. Which is of course ALL Knowledge. Working with the senses we will try to locate meaning and story. Once the body is explicated, we can then and only then think about the greater world. We will discuss how all living things, plant, animal and human, have movement and change at their base and how key that movement and change is to storytelling. Please bring paper and pen to this workshop, and be willing to read and to discuss and to write.
Many Thanks to our Donors and Sponsors!

Conference presented jointly by:

University of Kentucky
College of Arts and Sciences

Kentucky Women Writers Conference, Inc.

With generous donations from:

LexArts

Kentucky Foundation for Women

Libraries

Media & In Kind Sponsors:

WUKY
NPR ROCKS @ 91.3

Carnegie Center for Literacy & Learning

We are grateful to those who provided important financial support in 2020:

Bard ($500 and above)
Kim Edwards Foundation
Frank X Walker

Reader ($100–499)
Lois B. Barr
Jennifer Bartlett
Susan Hill
Jan Isenhour
Maria Johnson
Leatha Kendrick
Tom Kimmerer
Dodie Kuzneski
Elizabeth Rouse Fielder

Friend (up to $99)
Diane Bailey-Boulet
Karisse Carmack
Danby Carter
Kelly Flood
Judy A. Goldsmith
Leigh Hoopes
Paulette Livers
Candace Owens
Patricia H. Papero

Board of Directors
Randi Ewing, President
Ashley Sipple-McGraw, Vice President
Shelda Hale, Co-Treasurer
Patrice Muhammad, Co-Treasurer & Sonia Series Chair
Katy Yocom, Secretary
Camilla Holzer
Jessica Winters

Staff
Julie Kuzneski Wrinn, Director

Stay in Touch
Write to our staff email below to receive our bi-monthly e-newsletter, and don’t hesitate to include feedback in your note.

contact: Julie Wrinn, director, 232 East Maxwell Street, Lexington, KY, 40506-0344
phone: 859-257-2874
staff email: kentuckywomenwriters@gmail.com
board email: boardKYwomenwriters@gmail.com
Web site: www.kentuckywomenwriters.org
Facebook: Kentucky Women Writers Conference
Twitter: @KYwomenwriters

LexArts has provided funding for KyWomenWriters2020 through its Fund for the Arts.